Welcome to My Fifth Seminar

- The topics I will be talking about in this presentation are:
 - The healing properties of water
 - The truth of sodium fluoride
 - Heavy metals and how to detox them
 - Acidosis (acidic blood)
 - Wave genetics and epigenetics
 - Holographic healing
 - Frequency healing
 - Quantum computers

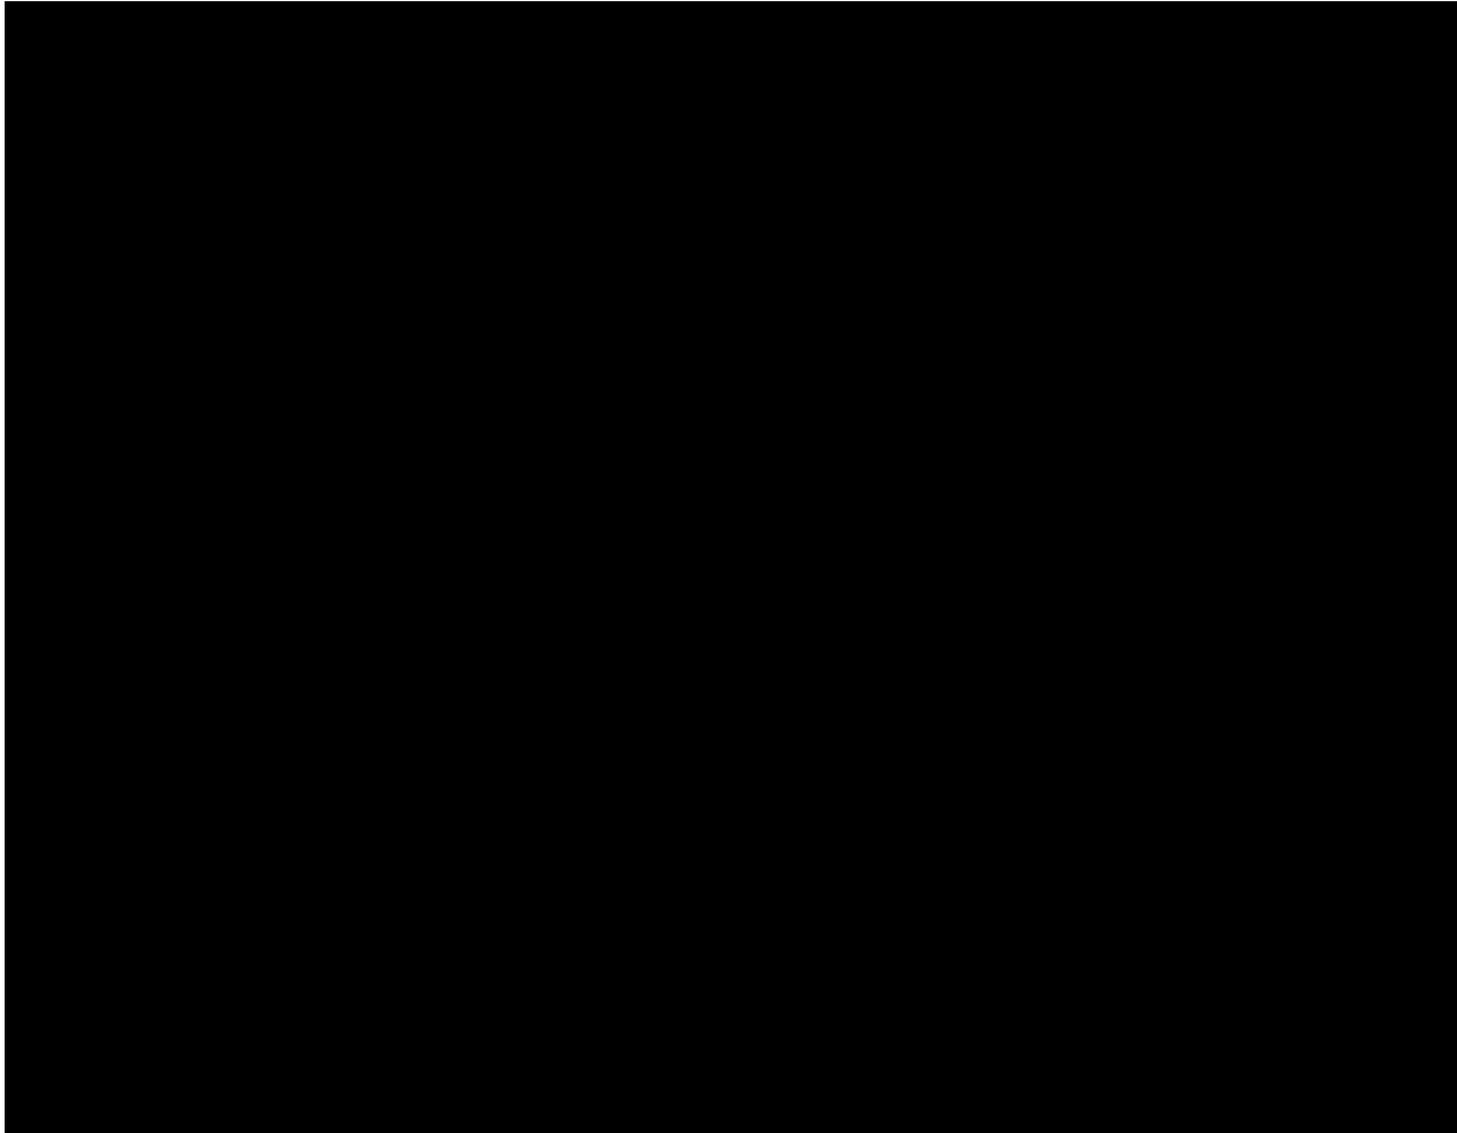

The Secrets of Water: Why Drinking “Living” Water is Essential for Health

- When it comes to health, it is essential to learn about the healing properties of water, because water plays a critical role in cell performance and energy production. According to some scientists, the human body is made of roughly 70 percent water.
- Water is not just a transparent, odorless, and tasteless liquid made of compounds of hydrogen and oxygen. At the deeper levels, water is conscious to a certain point and has the ability to store memory. In other words, water is “alive” to a certain degree.

What is “Dead” Water?

- “Dead” water is water that lacks energetics, healing information, and organic minerals. A great example of dead water is tap water. You should avoid drinking tap water as much as possible, because it contains harmful toxins, such as sodium fluoride and chlorine.
- Some people think that distilled water is also dead water. In a way, distilled water is “dead” for the reason that it lacks energetics (i.e., minerals). However, distilled water is much cleaner than tap water and is nearly 100 percent free of harmful chemicals. To make distilled water more alive, you need to add organic minerals to it before drinking it.
- Most water mineral products sold on the market have inorganic minerals, which can be harmful to your body. Organic minerals are found in plant food and inorganic minerals are found in soil. Inorganic minerals are natural but they are NOT organic.

What is “Living” Water?

- Living water is water that has tumbled over rocks and other natural minerals, causing it to flow in certain ways and absorb the energy of Earth. This process causes the water to become more energetically alive, fresh, and vibrant. It also restores water molecules to their true original and energized state.
- The most convenient way to drink “living” water is to install a structured water system or a distilled water unit in your home that has the ability to remineralize the water. Be aware that water that has been structured by a structured water system is not the same as water that has been structured naturally.

Why You Should Drink Distilled and Structured Water

- Distilled water and structured water are much healthier for you, because they are more pure than tap water and are nearly 100 percent free of harmful chemicals. When your body is saturated with clean, energized water, it allows your cells to communicate better and eliminate toxins faster. This will increase your frequency, help you lose weight, and slow down the aging process.
- Some people like to make big claims that distilled and structured water can cure certain diseases and reverse aging to a certain point. I do not know for sure that these claims about distilled and structured water are 100 percent true, because I do not have the equipment to test them. What I do know is that they are much better for you than tap water or bottled water.

“Dead” Water Versus “Living” Water

Based on the work of Dr. Masaru Emoto's frozen water crystal experiment.

The Healing Properties and Intelligence of Water

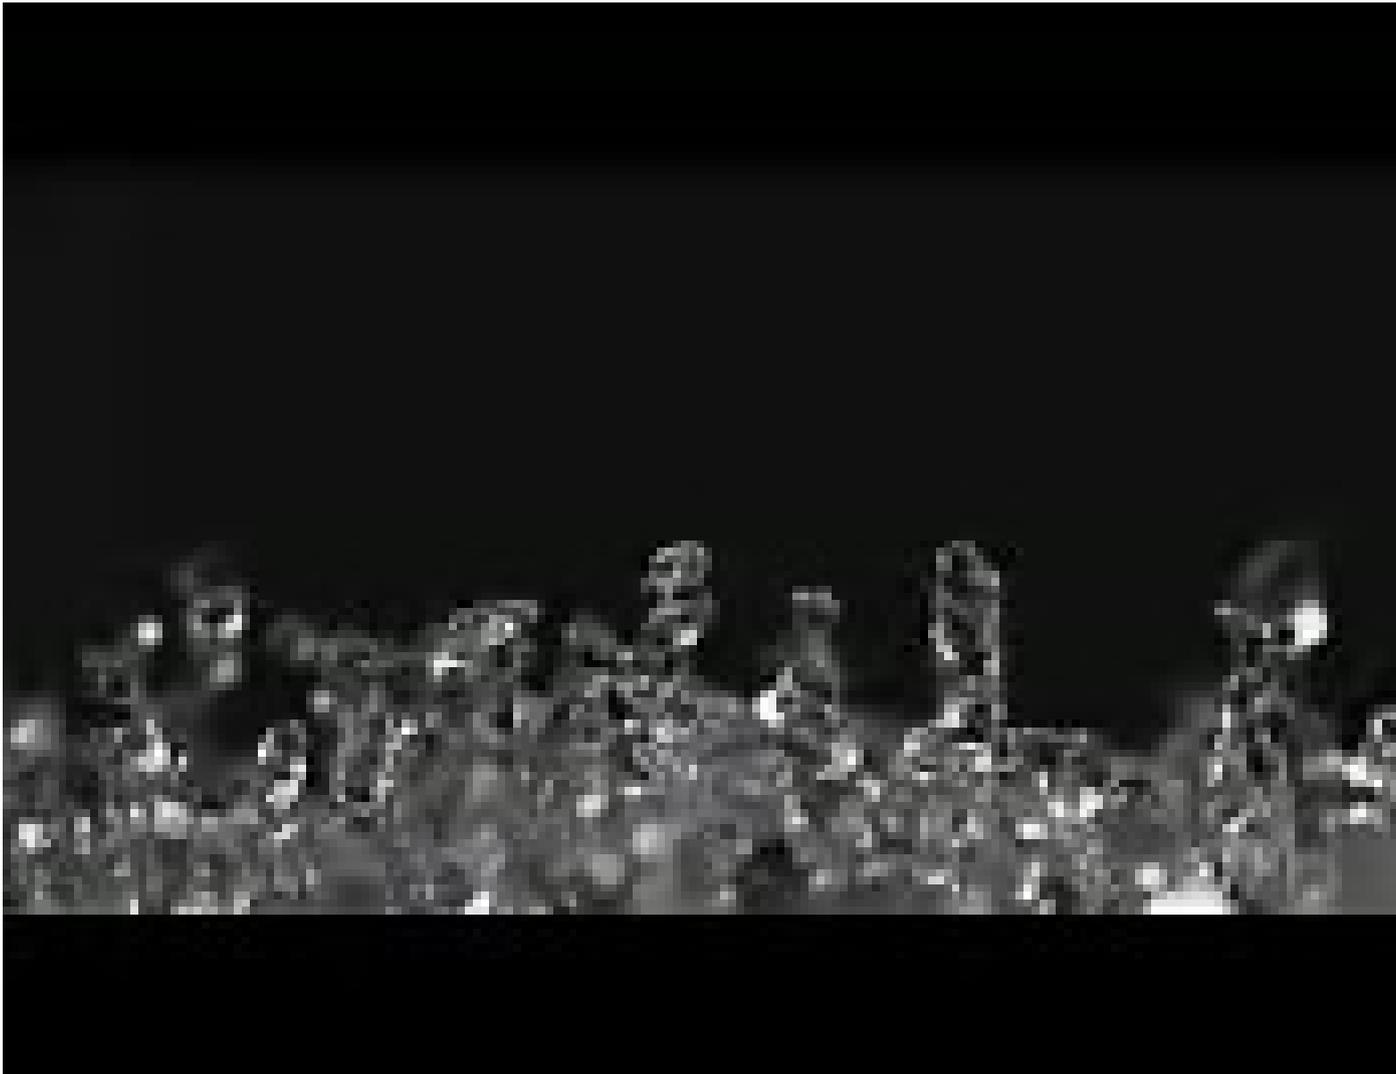

- Water is an element we are very familiar with, because it is found in every country on Earth, and we drink it nearly everyday. Even though we see water almost everyday, most of us do not know that water has great healing potential.
- Our society has taught us that water is made up of two hydrogen atoms and one oxygen atom (H₂O). We are also taught that water has a very unique characteristic that allows it to transform itself into three different states of matter, which are liquid, solid, and gas. These definitions of water are accurate, but they are missing some very important information about water.

- Water is not just a dead element but is conscious, “alive,” and “intelligent” to a certain degree, and it has the ability to heal. Water seems dead in our version of reality, because we live in a reality field that has a lot of energy distortions and is low in frequency. These things prevent water from achieving its higher forms.
- At the higher levels, water is a transporter of energy, thoughts, and frequencies. When water is charged with healing energy, positive thoughts, and resonant frequencies, it can raise your frequency and heal your body. This is why it is important to drink “living” water instead of “dead” water. Living water raises your frequency and dead water lowers your frequency.
- Besides being a transporter of energy, thoughts, and frequencies, water also has the ability to store memory.

What is Sodium Fluoride?

- When it comes to treating drinking water, we often hear the word fluoride, but did you know that there are two main forms of fluoride?
- The fluoride used in certain commercial products and for treating drinking water is known as sodium fluoride, which is the synthetic version. The natural version of fluoride is known as calcium fluoride. This natural version is usually found in the soil and ground water in small quantities.
- What you need to know about the term fluoride is that it is a cover up term for representing many of the dangerous substances that make up fluoride, including but not limited to arsenic, lead, aluminum, cadmium, and fluorosilicic acid.

Why You Need to Drink Water Free of Sodium Fluoride

- Sodium fluoride is a toxic waste. Ingesting too much of it can lead to all sorts of health problems, including dental fluorosis, which is a health condition that causes teeth to dissolve. In its severest form, it can severely damage teeth and cause them to fall off. Some of the early signs of dental fluorosis are brown and black stains on teeth.
- Here are some common health problems related to sodium fluoride:
 - Reduced IQ, bone cancer, learning problems, memory issues, thyroid disease, pineal gland calcification, infertility, immunodeficiency disorders, and brain development problems.

- Some people like to say that sodium fluoride is not a threat to their health, because it is found in small quantities in food and water. What most people do not realize is that sodium fluoride is found in many conventional foods and it is not easy for the body to detox it. If you eat a lot of processed foods, conventional fruits and vegetables, and drink a lot of tap water, you are poisoning your body with sodium fluoride.

How to Remove Sodium Fluoride from Drinking Water

- Water distillers: These water purifiers are excellent for removing sodium fluoride from water. They purify water of contaminants by heating untreated water into water vapor and then condensing it back into liquid form. The result is nearly 100 percent pure water.
- Reverse osmosis water filtration systems: These water filtration systems filter out contaminants by pushing untreated water through a semipermeable membrane. This process removes nearly all contaminants from the water, including sodium fluoride.
- Activated alumina: Water filtration systems that have activated alumina filters are also great for removing sodium fluoride from tap water. The activated alumina filters remove sodium fluoride by attracting it to its surface.

The Health Benefits of Drinking “Living” Water (Energized Water)

- Increases your frequency
- Helps you lose weight
- Increases your stamina
- Improves the functions of your cells
- Strengthens your immune system
- Helps balance your energy and blood pH
- Enhances your blood circulation
- Improves your body's ability to eliminate toxins

How to Detox Heavy Metals to Improve Your Health and Increase Your Energy

- Heavy metals are some of the major contributors to chronic health problems and fatigue. Examples of heavy metals are arsenic, lead, chromium, mercury, and cadmium. Not all heavy metals are very toxic to the human body, but the ones that are harmful are very toxic to cells, especially nerve cells. This is why they have been linked to Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, autoimmune disorders, and low energy levels.
- It is wise to detox harmful heavy metals on a regular basis, especially mercury since it is one of the most toxic neurotoxins on Earth. When detoxing heavy metals, it is best to do it in cycles to avoid major side effects.

- One of the first things you need to do to detox heavy metals is to get a test done for heavy metal poisoning. One of the best tests available to the public is the Hair Elements Test. I believe DirectLabs has the equipment to do this hair test. What you do is contact DirectLabs and let them know that you are interested in the Hair Elements Test. If they agree to do this test, they will send you the necessary information.
- Another thing you should do before you start detoxing heavy metals from your body is to go on a proper supplementation program, so that you can supply your body with essential organic vitamins and minerals, such as magnesium, zinc, calcium, vitamin (B, C, and E), and essential fatty acids, and other essential nutrients. Without these nutrients, your body will have a harder time detoxing heavy metals.

- Each heavy metal is different so the method to remove it will vary. For example, when detoxing mercury, it is best to remove all dental amalgams (silver dental fillings) from your teeth before going on a mercury detox program. We all should learn how to detox mercury from our bodies, because it is the most toxic heavy metal and we unknowingly ingest it more than we think.
- Removing dental amalgams should be undertaken with the care from a medical professional in order to ensure that the process is done safely. Most dentists do not know how to do this, so you will need to find one who does. A great website to search for dentists who know how to safely remove dental amalgams is IAOMT.org (International Academy of Oral Medicine & Toxicology).

- To increase your success rate of detoxing heavy metals and to prevent heavy metal poisoning, you must educate yourself with the right knowledge. I recommend reading the book Amalgam Illness, Diagnosis and Treatment by Andrew Hall Cutler. This book is more concentrated on mercury poisoning, but it also has some great information about other heavy metals.

Or other life limiting problems your doctor can't do much about?

Have you heard about the controversy surrounding mercury from dental fillings and other sources? Did you know you might actually be mercury poisoned? Would you like to find out? Let a highly qualified research scientist explain:

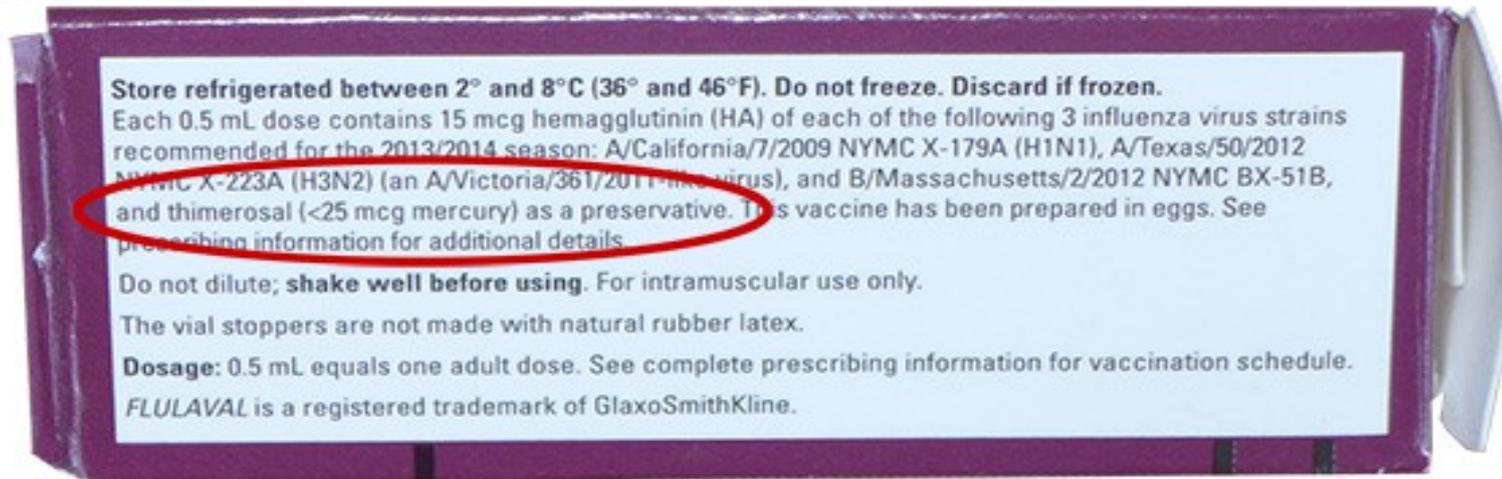

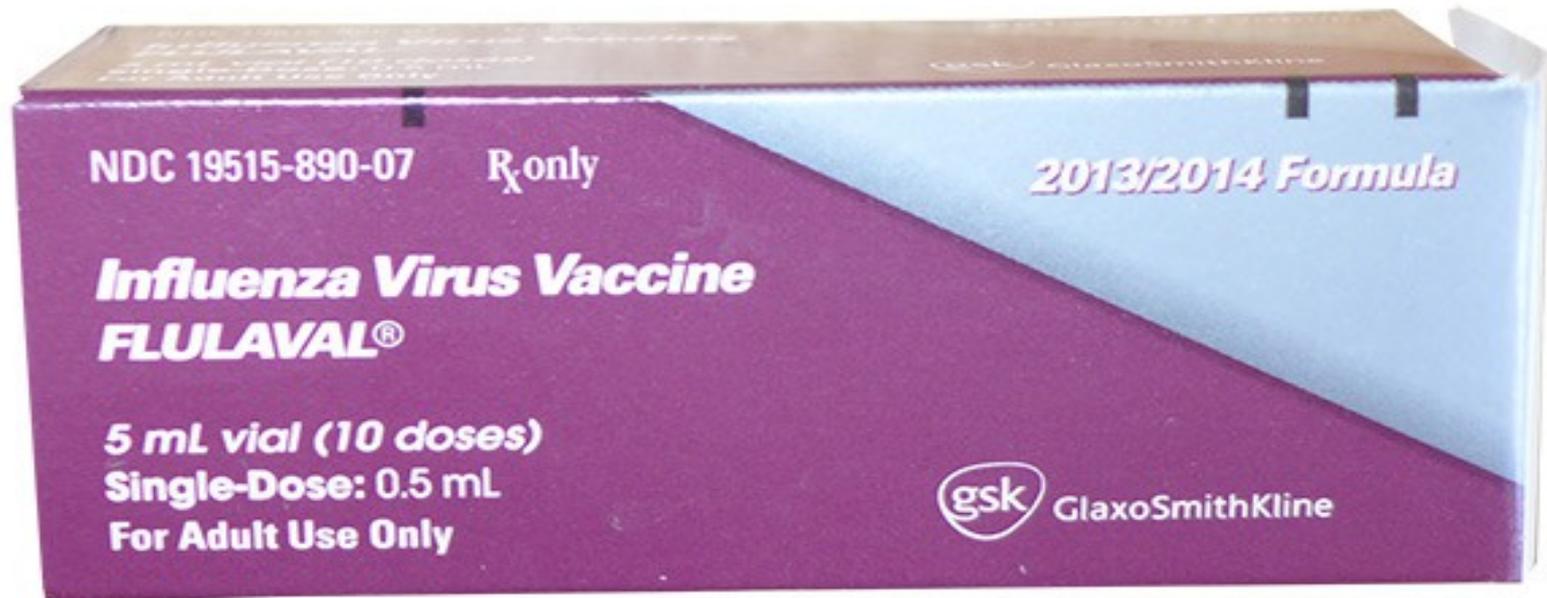

- why we know millions of people have undiagnosed mercury poisoning
- why conventional medicine is slow to accept this
- how you can find out if your problems are actually due to mercury
- how to cure mercury poisoning and get rid of your health problems

Tips to Prevent Heavy Metal Poisoning

- Avoid vaccines as much as possible because many of them contain aluminum or thimerosal (a mercury-based preservative). Aluminum is not considered a heavy metal, but it is still very toxic to your body and is one of the common causes of metal toxicity.
- Stay away from dental amalgams (silver dental fillings) because they often contain mercury. If you are planning to get a dental filling, ask your dentist to use composite fillings that are made with metal-free compounds.
- If you smoke cigarette, you may want to quit because cigarette has cadmium and other heavy metals in it.

- Consume more organic food and reduce your conventional food intake as much as possible. Conventional food is often contaminated with heavy metals, especially conventional fruits and vegetables. These fruits and vegetables are usually sprayed with pesticides and herbicides, two toxic chemicals that contain heavy metals and other deadly toxins.
- Tap water is usually contaminated with heavy metals and other toxins. Because of these things, it is wise to install a water purification system in your home to filter out contaminants from your drinking water. Avoid using the cheap water filters at your local retail stores, because they do not work very good. I recommend water distillers, reverse osmosis systems, or multistage water filtration systems that have carbon and activated alumina filters.
- Avoid using products that are made with aluminum, such as aluminum pan and foil.

Many Vaccines Contain Thimerosal (A Mercury-Based Preservative)

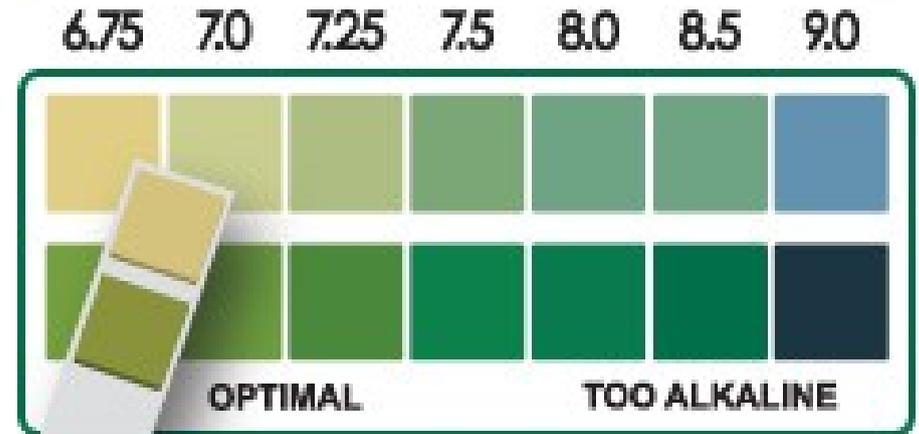

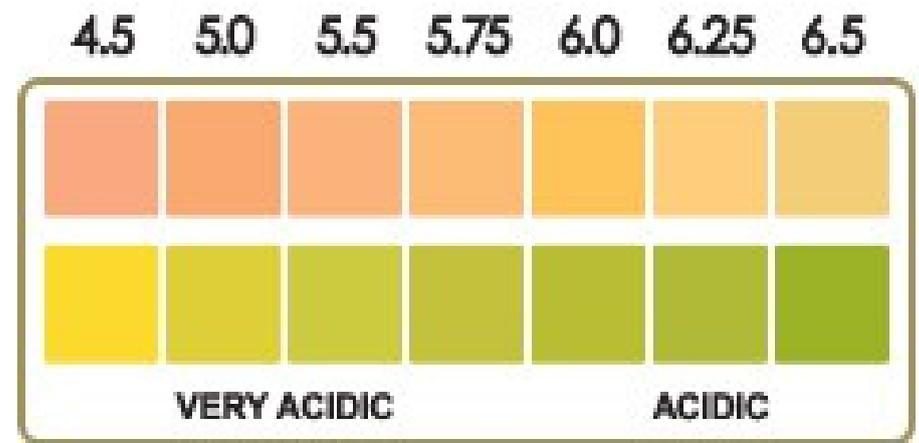

The Health Benefits of Detoxing Heavy Metals

- After you detox heavy metals from your body, you should notice:
 - An increase in energy
 - An improvement in your thinking skills and memory
 - An improvement in your concentration
 - A decrease in body weight
 - Less muscle and joint pain
 - Less migraines and headaches
 - Less sleeping problems and mood swings
 - Less psychological problems
 - Better coordination skills
- Best of all, you will feel ALIVE again!

How Acidosis Drains Your Energy and Destroys Your Health

- Acidosis, also known as acidic blood, is “a blood condition in which the bicarbonate concentration is below normal,” making it harder for the body to prevent the blood from becoming too acidic. Acidosis can also occur when the lungs and kidneys are not working properly.
- The human body works similar to an alkaline battery, and therefore when its blood pH is too acidic, it does not function properly. As a result, the body has a hard time producing energy, cells can not communicate properly, fungus and bacteria starts to grow out of control, and the body’s natural healing and defense system breakdown.

- The normal pH of human blood is slightly higher than 7.0. Most acidosis experts agree that the normal pH of human blood is between 7.35-7.45. If your blood pH is lower than 7.3, it is considered somewhat acidic.

- Two convenient ways to test your blood pH are the saliva pH test and urine pH test. These two tests are not as accurate as the blood pH test. For the blood pH test, you often need to visit a doctor to get your blood drawn.

The Negative Health Effects of Acidosis

- When your blood is too acidic, it creates an environment that is harmful to your cells. Furthermore, it increases your risk of cancer due to the fact that cancer thrives the best in an acidic environment.
- Here are some negative health effects of acidosis:
 - Robs your body of nutrients
 - Lowers your metabolism and energy
 - Increases your risk of cancer and heart disease
 - Increases your risk of bacterial and fungal infections
 - Increases your risk of arthritis and osteoporosis
 - Decreases your oxygen levels
 - Suppresses your immune system
 - Disrupts your hormone levels

Acidosis and Weight Gain

- Acidosis is one of the major contributors to weight gain, because it prevents cells from metabolizing glucose properly. When your blood is acidic, it disrupts the natural flow of every system of your body, causing chemical imbalance, which often leads to weight gain.

How to Prevent Acidosis

- To stop acidosis from causing you to gain weight or have other health problems, avoid eating junk food and stay away from carbonated beverages, especially the ones with a lot of refined sugar (table sugar).
- To bring your blood pH back to its normal level, you need to eat more alkaline foods, such as fresh organic fruits and vegetables. Alkaline foods that have good levels of calcium are often recommended for preventing acidosis, because your body uses calcium ions to neutralize acids in your blood.
- Drinking purified “living” water instead of tap water will help reduce your risk of acidosis, because purified living water are mostly free of contaminants.

- Another way to reduce your risk of acidosis is to stop consuming refined sugar. The natural sugar in fruit is a monosaccharide called fructose, which is a type of carbohydrate.

Table sugar, in contrast, is a disaccharide known as sucrose. When you eat a fruit, you are not just ingesting sugar and water, but also synergistic components, such as mineral activators, enzymes, co-vitamin helpers, and fiber. These components have specific roles to play for helping your body to safely and effectively metabolize nutrients.

- Refined sugar (table sugar) is actually a neurotoxin, which is why it has been linked to neurodegenerative disease. This toxin has also been linked to cancer, autoimmune disorders, diabetes, osteoporosis, kidney problems, liver disease, obesity, and depression.
- When you consume refined sugar, your body metabolizes it differently than the natural sugar found in plant foods. The way refined sugar is metabolized causes a quick release of glucose into your bloodstream. This creates a lot of stress on your body, because it has to work harder to bring your blood sugar back into balance.
- One of the organs that has to work the hardest to fix the negative effects of refined sugar is the pancreas. In the long term, a diet high in refined sugar will harm the pancreas, causing it to not work properly. This can cause insulin imbalances, leading to diabetes, obesity, and other chronic health problems. Overtime these health problems will increase your risk of acidosis.

Wave Genetics and Epigenetics and Their Amazing Healing Potential

- Wave genetics is the process of using resonant waves and certain electromagnetic waves to affect the genes in DNA. The waves are encoded with specific information and then are transmitted into the area of the body that needs healing. This process can also be used to destroy harmful microorganisms in the body.
- According to certain genetics experts, wave genetics has the potential to heal any illness, regenerate lost body parts, regrow tissues, and dramatically extend the lifespan of certain organisms, including human beings.

- Wave genetics is able to heal the body in extraordinary ways, because it can communicate with DNA at the fundamental levels. It does this by sending waves of information or energy codes into the DNA to turn certain genes on, allowing cells to heal and regenerate tissues.
- To have a deeper understanding of how wave genetics can affect DNA and heal the body, you need to study DNA beyond the material realm. Many people know that DNA is made of nucleotides, sugars, phosphates, and amino acids, but they often do not know that it is also made of biophotons. In other words, at the fundamental levels, DNA is made of condensed light.

- According to some Russian scientists, the helical structure of DNA allows biophotons to spiral in a coherent manner. This process acts as an electromagnetic communication system that is found in every cell of our bodies.
- One of the ways that wave genetics can be used to heal genes is by beaming a laser with epigenetic information toward a specific area of the body. This process can transfer the epigenetic information into the DNA of cells and change its gene expression. By changing the gene expression in the DNA of cells, it can stimulate cells to regenerate organs and bones, and slow the aging process. Another way to transfer epigenetic information is to use sound.

- Epigenetics is the study of changes in organisms caused by “modification of DNA, protein, or RNA, resulting in changes to the function and/or regulation of these molecules, without altering their primary sequences.” In simple terms, it modifies gene expression but does not alter the primary genetic code itself.
- Geneticists have discovered that the human genome consists of not only genes, but also a highly complex genetic switch system, composing of millions of genetic switches. These genetic switches are used by the human body to turn genes on and off. So far, geneticists have found slightly more than 4 million switching sites, which only cover roughly 8.5 percent of the human genome.

- Each of the millions of genetic switches in the human genome affects certain specific gene activity and expression. When these genetic switches are defected and not working in harmony with the other systems of the human DNA, it can lead to faulty gene activity, which can cause all sorts of health problems.
- There are many things that can cause genetic switches to not work properly. One of them is genetically modified organism (GMO). Certain geneticists believe that the unnatural genetic materials in GMO can interfere with the natural functions of genetic switches in the human body. This may be why GMO has been linked to all sorts of health conditions, including but not limited to infertility, birth defects, immune disorders, growth problems, premature aging, and cancer.

- Besides GMO, food toxins, environmental toxins, and electromagnetic pollution (cell phone) can also interfere with gene activity and expression. Electromagnetic pollution is very effective for disharmonizing the natural frequencies of the human body. The good news is that certain scientific studies have shown that by “tweaking” the epigenome of an organism using nutrients, they can reverse damages done to the genes of that organism.
- The emergence of epigenetics and wave genetics will soon dramatically change how we diagnose and cure disease. With the right technology, epigenetics and wave genetics will revolutionize the health industry by giving us the tools to cure every disease known to mankind. These two technologies are still in their early stages, so researchers and geneticists still have a lot of learning to do before they can use these technologies to heal the body with great results.

Holographic Healing

- Holographic healing is a healing technique that focuses on healing the body at the energy level. When you break down the body beyond the material realm, it is made of only energy. To be more specific, the body is a projection of energy, also known as a hologram. Certain quantum physicists have known this for a long time. However, many mainstream scientists refuse to accept this idea, because it is a threat to their materialistic view of reality.

- The technology used in holographic healing utilizes sound waves, frequencies, and light to heal the deeper systems of the body, such as the cell, the DNA, the chakras, and meridian system.
- In theory, a well-built holographic healing device could produce healing light and frequencies to heal cells and DNA, and stimulate the body's energy back into a more balanced state. It could also be used to find distortions or energy blockages in the hologram body (light body).
- Holographic healing technologies have great healing potential, but if they are not used correctly, they can harm the body. These healing technologies are still in their early stages, so they still need to go through many improvements before they can heal the hologram body with great results.

- To better understand how holographic healing works and how it can be used to heal the body, we need to know how morphogenetic fields, holograms, and DNA work at the fundamental levels. To do this, we need to study the language of the Universe, which is made of light, sound, frequency, vibration, mathematics, and sacred geometry.
- A product that works somewhat similar to holographic healing that I have tried is OXO hologram. OXO has three hologram products, which are disposable, quantum infused, peel-n-stick plastic disks that are infused with sacred geometries and energy healing codes to heal the body at the energy level. OXO holograms are not actual holograms. Instead, they use holographic communication to heal the body and balance its energy. This type of holographic healing technology still has a lot of evolving to do, so do not expect any miracle cure.
- Visit [this link to read my full review of OXO holograms.]

Frequency Healing

- To understand how frequency healing works, you need to know the definition of frequency and its relation to vibration and oscillation. Frequency is “the number of cycles or completed alternations per unit time of a wave or oscillation” or the number of waves that pass a fixed point in unit time.
- In physics, vibration is the “oscillating, reciprocating, or other periodic motion of a rigid or elastic body or medium forced from a position or state of equilibrium.” As for oscillation, it is “an effect expressible as a quantity that repeatedly and regularly fluctuates above and below some mean value, as the pressure of a sound wave or the voltage of an alternating current.” In simple terms, it is a motion that repeats itself.

- In certain spiritual teachings of energy mechanics, the process when energy contracts toward the neutral point is known as vibration, and the process when energy expands away from the neutral point is known as oscillation.
- The combination of vibration and oscillation is what determines the vibrational frequency rate (cyclic pattern of scalar waves) of all things. Scalar waves are standing waves that flash “on” and “off.” This process creates energy patterns that are processed by our consciousness and DNA to create our external reality.
- So, what is frequency healing? Frequency healing is the method of using certain frequency signatures to heal the frequencies of the body and restore them back to their original state. This is often done by using frequency healing devices. A popular frequency healing device is called the Rife machine.

The Rife Machine

- The Rife machine is a frequency healing device created by Dr. Royal Raymond Rife. Unfortunately, he did not get a chance to mass produce his frequency healing device. Because of this, many of the newer Rife machines are actually cheap or fake imitations of Dr. Rife's original Beam Ray.

- Many of the cheap imitations of the Rife machine have digital instead of analog technology. In many applications, digital technology is often more accurate. However, in a frequency healing device, simulating the minor variations of electromagnetic signals is not possible, unless the digital device uses very complex hardware and computer programs. The good news is that with the invention of quantum computers, these problems should not be hard to solve.
- The original Rife machine is not available anymore because certain parts of the machine are obsolete and very hard to find. However, some private companies have been able to create a smaller and more convenient version of it. If you are interested in a modern version of the Rife machine, do some research on JWLabs and BCX Ultra and their frequency healing devices.

The Relationship Between Disease and Frequency

- Frequency plays an important role in the creation of our physical reality, because it allows energy to express itself into any form, including molecules, atoms, planets, stars, biological life, and even diseases. To be more specific, every biological or non-biological thing has unique energy signatures that vibrate at certain frequencies.
- In 1992, Bruce Tainio of Tainio Technology built the first frequency monitor in the world. Bruce Tainio along with other researchers discovered that a healthy human body has a frequency between 62-72 MHz. When its frequency drops below 62 MHz, the immune system is compromised and therefore the risk of illness increases.

- Here are some statistics that they discovered about the frequency of the body and diseases:
 - Normal Brain Frequency: 72 MHz
 - Human Body: 62-78 MHz
 - Thymus Gland: 65-68 MHz
 - Heart: 67-70 MHz
 - Lungs: 58-65 MHz
 - Liver: 55-60 MHz
 - Pancreas: 60-80 MHz
 - Colds and Flu start at 57-60 MHz
 - Disease starts at 58 MHz
 - Cancer starts at 42 MHz
 - Death begins at 25 MHz

HeartMath emWave2

- Another energy healing device you may want to check out is the emWave2. emWave is a portable biofeedback device created by HeartMath to help you reduce stress, balance emotions, and increase performance, which are important for increasing and balancing your energy, and raising your frequency. It also helps you to rebalance the energy of your mind, increasing your ability to think clearer and make better decisions under pressure.

- With the invention of quantum computers (i.e., D-Wave Two) wave genetics, epigenetics, holographic healing, and frequency healing technology will improve dramatically. These amazing healing technologies will soon revolutionize the health and medical industry.
- If enough people wake up and stop the Dark Forces from achieving their New World Order, these amazing healing technologies will make “incurable disease” a thing from the past. Imagine living in a world free of cancer, diabetes, obesity, autoimmune disorders, and diseases. With these advanced healing technologies, it is not only possible but will become a reality in the near future.
